FUNERAL FASHIONS.

No doubt Miss Kate Sanborn's vigorous protest against a number of the funeral customs which perpetuate various strange contradictions and perversities struck a sympathetic chord in the hearts of thousands who have silently suffered under these irrational and frequently distinctly un-Christian social ordinances. So conservative is society, that the New York Tribune, that it requires almost a geological epoch to establish any reform which demands the abandonment of long-entrenched fashions, however, and though many energetic, earnest efforts have been made during the last fifty years to amend funeral fashions, which entail the most facile of all extravagances upon the poor, and foster everywhere a tone of thought which goes counter to Christian doctrine, the evidences of improvement—where here, as in most cases, means popular education—are few and not encouraging. Nor, indeed, can the philosopher seriously expect that the last services to the dead will be directed of solemn pretenses and make-beliefs or an ostentation which has its roots in semi-religious, as long as the life to which the majority continually aspire is so thoroughly controlled by artificialism, so saturated with a spirit of servile imitation and meaningless ceremony, born of senseless apprehension of the opinions and criticisms of Mrs. Grundy.

Miss Sanborn's revolt from the funeral honors paid to some old clubman and sport, a blase wanderer, worn out with dissipation and excesses—over whose coffin "a high-priced quater, secured for the occasion warble 'Nearer, my God, to Thee,' bursting into triumphant climax at the close, as if exulting over the victorious release of some noble saint." The picture is impressive, no doubt, and the conjunction seems shockingly grotesque; but, after all, the obsequies of the worn-out old man are quite consistent with his treatment of the society which sanctions the closing mockery. Known to be vicious, self-absorbed, animal, unscrupulous, morally infectious, the man was all his life accepted as a good, respectable, virtuous citizen. Surely those who never hesitated to admit him to their homes and tables can well afford to extend so familiar a hypocrisy until it covers his tomb. There are Christians who would not think of opening their doors to people whom, nevertheless, they believed to be good enough for heaven. Why should those who admit to all intimacy such sinners as Miss Sanborn's supporters "rounder" not complete and give consistency to the social fiction they have governed themselves by so long, by assuming the fitness of the dear departed for the best society in the New Jerusalem?

The Jekyll Club, of Georgia, is meeting with great success in propagating the English pheasant. A few months ago the club received seventy-eight birds out of 100 which were sent to it from England, twenty-two having died on the journey. From these seventy-eight birds, 1,000 chicks were hatched out last fall by common barnyard hens. In addition to these, most of which thrived, an additional 100 hen pheasants have been ordered from England; and when they arrive preparations will be made to hatch 5,000 birds. With 6,000 or 7,000 birds as a nucleus, it is expected that there will be no longer any necessity of stimulating their increase, as their annual hatching in a wild state will furnish an ample supply for the sportsman. Jekyll Island is eleven miles long and from one to two miles wide. Being well wooded, it affords a good cover for the birds, and as the pheasant never leaves its original home, the members of the club will soon have all the sport they want on their own domain.

The news of Senator Chace's resignation assumes a form that gives it to an air of authority. His retirement from public life is greatly to be regretted, not only by the state which he has so honorably represented, but by the whole country. Mr. Chace was one of the best equipped legislators in congress, and it will be many a day before his colleagues find so patient, reasonable and wise a man to take his place. In losing Mr. Chace, the senate parts not only with an exceptionally able public man, but a man of high character and of the finest personal qualities. It can be said of Jonathan Chace that he has more friends and fewer enemies than almost any other public man of his time.

Apparently the rush to Europe this year will be unprecedented. The Paris exposition is the chief attraction, of course, and the steamship companies are making preparations to carry a greater number of passengers than ever before. Some of them will send out three steamships a week from New York. The "cocoa ferry" is a phrase that enjoys a certain vogue. If its use has not been justified in times past, it may certainly be looked upon during the coming season as expressing a good deal of truth.

A good many stories have been told of juries, but none of them were more sensational than the facts about a jury in New Orleans the other day. The twelve were locked up at midnight. By some means unknown there had been conveyed into the room a quart of whisky, a deck of cards and a handful of beans. At four o'clock they stopped the game and made up a busy verdict of manslaughter.

ter (it was a murder case), and were ready to face the court. There will be a new trial.

Hon. Hans Crocker, a resident of Milwaukee since 1836, and a co-laborer with the late Alexander Mitchell in building the St. Paul railway and improving the city of Milwaukee, died in that city on Saturday last. He was well known throughout the state, and at one time was a leading politician, having been elected to several state offices, and wielded a great influence in state affairs.

The diligence with which the democratic newspapers are organizing feuds between President Harrison and his family friends might be better directed. Half the industry devoted to the improvement of their minds might enlighten them on public questions and lead them into points of righteousness.

COAL-OPERATORS MEET.

The Indiana Contingent in Secret Session at Terre Haute.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 19.—The Indiana coal-operators are in session at Terre Haute, considering the outlook for the ensuing year. The main question is the principal point being discussed, but as yet no conclusion has been reached. They held a meeting of about two hours' duration yesterday afternoon with closed doors. President D. J. Jenner said the meeting was of a strictly private nature, and that no information would be given to the press in regard to what action would be taken. The committee was by the Indiana operators to the Columbus convention made its report, in which it set forth its reasons for withdrawing from that convention. It is believed that they will remain in their demand for a reduction of 30 cents per ton from last year's scale.

Fought Seven Rounds.

LANSING, Mich., March 19.—Barney Smith, aged 22, and weighing 147 pounds, and Jack Hahn, aged 25, weighing 177 pounds, fought seven rounds on Saturday night for $25 and the gate receipts. Smith was a foul. The fight was bloody and desperate, both men being badly bruised. Hahn's nose was broken. There were four knock-downs.

A Hundred Tons of Money.

It hardly seems possible that the money paid in one month for a ten cent article, could, if pennies were used in payment, weigh one hundred tons. Yet one of our bright school boys has figured that this is true. Daniel D. Dye, to judge from our stocks of our dealers in dye stuffs, Diamond Dyes own the field of package dyes, and are a complete success. Of course they have tailors. "Nought is successful until imitated." But no one ever wants to risk a counterfeit when the genuine can be obtained at the same price. Three new colors have been added to the list of Diamond Dyes. Fast steeking black, Turkey red for cotton, and brown for cotton. The manufacturers, Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., will send colored samples of these dyes, with book of directions, to any address, free of charge. These additions seem to have made the line so complete that any shade can be matched with some color of Diamond Dyes. The beautiful sample book of shaded colors, lately sent to all dealers in dyes, will delight the eye of any lady. "It is easy to dye with Diamond Dyes," is so absolutely true that home dyeing is no longer a difficult and disagreeable task. Altimans, with their hints as to proper life for different work, tell us that now is the time for spring dyeing. This, together with the thought of that hundred tons of money, leads us to ask what school boy can figure how many thousands of ladies are now saying that this is the time to use Diamond Dyes.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The third week of the executive session of the Senate opened Monday morning, with the Vice-President in the chair.

Resolutions were offered and referred to the committee on the petition of the citizens of the Territory of New Mexico, authorizing the committee on woman suffrage and on additional accommodations for the library to sit during the recess. The resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Gibson for the appointment of a select committee on the relations with Mexico and Central America was taken up.

Mr. Gibson disclaimed utterly the suggestion made by Senators Platt and Morrill (when the resolution was last under discussion), implying that the motives which prompted its being offered were the expectation of the mover to be appointed chairman, and the desire of enjoying a pleasant trip at government expense. He reminded the Senate that he had originally offered it as an amendment to Mr. Morrill's resolution for a select committee on relations with Canada, and that if it had been accepted no additional select committee would have been required. He had offered the resolution because the people of Louisiana were very largely interested in the subject of increasing trade relations with Mexico.

OFFICE SEEKERS KEEPING QUIET.

They Give President Harrison a Rest—A Navy Department Order.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The usual crowd of office seekers were not visible at the White House Monday, but could be found in various departments. Consequently the President had a quiet morning. The only callers were Vice President Morton, Secretaries Blaine, Windom, Noble, and Rufus Eastman, general war-maker, and Gen. Stevenson of Illinois, Minister to Spain, Senator Allison, and Gen. B. F. Butler. All these gentlemen were granted long conferences. At 10 o'clock the President went down into the east room and shook hands with a large number of people, this being his tri-weekly public reception.

Harrison Favors the Blair Bill.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Senator Blair of New Hampshire in a letter to Judge James Hook, superintendent of education for the state, says concerning President Harrison's attitude toward the Blair bill: "The statement in the slip inclosed by you to me, that while in the Senate Gen. Harrison opposed the Blair bill, is wholly untrue. On the contrary, he spoke in favor of the bill and voted for it both times when it passed the Senate in the XLVIIIth and XLIXth Congress. Gen. Harrison was not a member of the last Congress, but he has always been and now is a supporter of the measure."

Trade Relations With Our Neighbors.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Monday's session of the Senate, while waiting for nominations, was devoted to further discussion of the wisdom of appointing committees on trade relations with neighboring countries. Mr. Gibson's resolution for the appointment of a committee on trade relations with Mexico and Central America was referred to the committee on commerce. Mr. Call's resolution for the appointment of a similar committee with regard to Cuba and the other West India islands was still pending when the Senate adjourned.

Superintendent of the Railway Mail.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Postmaster General has appointed J. Lowrie Bell, formerly traffic manager of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, superintendent of the railway mail service, vice Bancroft, resigned.

World's Nomination Opposed.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—There is considerable opposition to the confirmation of Lewis Wolf as Governor of Arizona, and it is said chances have been made against him for presentation to the committee on Territories. The nature of these charges, if they exist, cannot be learned. But it is expected that at the next meeting of the committee a favorable report will be ordered on his nomination.

HAVE CUT EXPORT RATES.

Chairman Cooley Says the Northern Roads Have Violated the Law.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has resumed its hearing in the matter of export rates and the methods adopted by the trunk lines in computing them. Representatives of the railroad companies are present.

A DAY OF DIVORCES.

Judge Bennett Listens to Complaints of Domestic Intelicity.

Cases in Which Decrees of Legal Separation Were Granted To-day.

Judge Bennett presided to-day over what might be called a session of divorces. Catherine Hefty swore that her husband, Mathias, had not already developed into a habitual drunkard, but had endeavored to persuade her to be nudly familiar with some of his boon companions. In Laura A. Gould's case the complaint was that Martin F. Gould had pushed her out of doors and let her to shift for herself. James A. Nevins held up the balance on the masculine side by complaining that his wife Minnie had run off with another man and was now living in Milwaukee. In each case a decree of divorce was granted. Judge Patterson was to have heard testimony in his suit against James Blesade for violation of the fire ordinance to-day. The case was set for nine o'clock and at ten o'clock, to appearance being by the prosecution within the hour allowed, the case was dismissed. City Attorney Doe, who had been detained at his office, appeared a few minutes later and entered a new complaint.

An Enthusiastic Celebration of St. Patrick's Day at Lappin's Opera House.

Many from Other Cities take Part in the Evening's Entertainment.

"God Save Ireland" was sung with a good will that made the lights flicker at Lappin's hall last night. It was so cold blooded audience that faced the speakers bled when Hugh M. Joyce arose to announce the first number and good old St. Patrick, in honor of whose natal day the celebration was arranged might well have smiled in commendation. The bell was filled to overflowing, the nature of the occasion being well shown by the sprig of green in each button-hole and by the decorations over the stage. As an opening number "St. Patrick's Day" was sung by a chorus consisting of J. H. Burns, Mrs. C. J. Mahoney, Rosa Burns, Gottlieb Fuelleman, Lizzie Falter, Lucy Walsh, Maggie Joyce, Kittie Joyce, Frank Needham and Fred Needham. A recitation by Miss Etta Whalen, entitled "A Sprig of Green," followed, and was well received. The same, however, might be said of each number on the programme. Miss Rose Kelly, of Rockford and Master Charles Cunningham were especially good. The musical and literary programme included: Vocal solo, "O Breath not His Name," Miss Sarah Corcoran, Rockford, Miss Mattie Joyce accompanist. Vocal solo "Isle of Beauty, Fare Thee Well," J. H. Burns. Recitation, "Ireland," Miss Rose Kelly. Vocal solo, Miss Minnie Dougerty. Song, "Just Because I'm Irish," Master Charles Cunningham; Recitation, "Erin's Flag," Miss Mary Cantillon. Vocal solo, "Where the Beautiful Rivers Flow," Miss Sarah Corcoran. Male chorus, "In Erin's Sweet Land," Messrs. J. H. Burns, Geo. K. Collins, Fred Needham, Gottlieb Fuelleman and Frank Needham. An elegant address was made by the Rev. J. J. Greene, of Rockford, fitting tribute being paid to the patriots and good will of those who had there gathered to mark the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint. Father Greene was introduced by Mayor Winans, and the throng refused to hear of leaving without a few words from the mayor himself. After repeated calls Mayor Winans arose amid loud applause.

THE SCHOOL BOARD'S ACTION NOT TO BE CHANGED.

A special session of the school board was held last evening to consider the matter of teachers. When the changes incident to Miss Palk's resignation were made a well developed kick resulted. The teachers preferred their old positions.

At the meeting last evening Commissioner Stevens moved to reconsider the motion promoting teachers at the last special meeting, when Miss Edna Hill was hired to fill the vacancy in the lower department vacated.

Commissioner Wilson raised the point of order that no such motion could be entertained unless it was made at the original meeting, and that such a motion could only be adopted at the next regular monthly meeting of the board.

The point of order drew out considerable discussion, pending which Com. Wilson moved that the salary of Miss Jennie Paterson, appointed to the First Grammar department, in the third ward school, be fixed for the ensuing term at $50 per month.

Com. Stevens withdrew his motion to reconsider, and Com. Wilson's motion was adopted.

Clerk Metcalf was authorized to notify the teachers of their appointments.

C. G. WILLIAMS IN SIGHT.

HE IS LIKELY TO BE GIVEN HIS OLD POSITION AT WATER TOWN.

"Ex-Commiseration 'Charley' Williams" says the Washington "correspondent of the Evening Wisconsin," is working hard to secure his old position of register of the land office at Watertown, D. T. Mr. Williams was appointed to the position in 1883, by President Arthur, and held it until the advent of the Cleveland administration, when he resigned to make way for Col. M. W. Sheafe, the present incumbent. It is very probable that Mr. Williams will be successful, although his Washington friends were counting on his reappearance at the national capital as a representative of one of the new states of the wild, woolly northwest.

TWO FIRE ALARMS.

The alarm of fire turned in from box 21, located at the corner of North Main street and Fourth avenue at two o'clock this afternoon was a false alarm, the box being accidentally "quilled" by the repairer while adjusting the wires.

Another alarm was turned in from box 15 located at the corner of North Broadway and Wall streets, at 2:25 o'clock this afternoon, calling the fire department to No. 2 Emmet street. The fire proved to be a small chicken coop in the rear of the premises. The little structure was well enveloped in flames before the alarm was given, and it was therefore, mostly destroyed.

OBITUARY.

JENNETTE WELLS.

Jennette Wells, wife of George Wells, and daughter of Chester and Elizabeth Ann Rockwell, of Darion, Wisconsin, died at her home in Allens Grove, Wis., March 18th, 1889, aged twenty-seven years.

Mrs. Wells was married to her now bereaved husband five years ago, and was ever a true and affectionate wife. She leaves two children to the care of father, and him whose tender mercies are over all his works.

The funeral was attended by a large concourse of neighbors and friends, who mourn her death.

LOUIS W. DE LENT.

Death, with his sickle bent, is ever busy reaping the bearded grain, and the flowers that grow between. Among the flowers that were bound in his sheaves yesterday, to bloom again in fields of light, was the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. De Lent, of No. 61 Milton avenue. Conjunction of the brain was the cause of his death, he having been sick several days. Louis W. De Lent would have been three years old April 2nd next. He was a peculiarly very bright and lovable child, and the grief over his death will not be limited to his parents. He was a favorite with all, and to know that he is no more will cause much genuine sorrow. The bereaved parents are cordially sympathized with.

The funeral services will be held to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock at the family residence. Rev. Joseph Waite will officiate. The interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery.
